ABOUT THE COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING AND SCHOOL OF MIME

The College of Engineering has 185 faculty and is the 11th largest in the U.S. in terms of undergraduate enrollment. MIME offers undergraduate degree programs in mechanical, industrial, manufacturing, and energy systems engineering and graduate programs in mechanical and industrial engineering, materials science and robotics. As leaders in emerging interdisciplinary research areas, our 54 core faculty members collectively garner more than $12 million annually in research funding. With over 1900 undergraduate and 350 graduate students, the school is a vibrant setting for scholarship and excellence.

ABOUT CORVALLIS, OSU AND OREGON

Corvallis is one of the nation’s safest, smartest, greenest small cities, home of Oregon State University. Founded in 1868, OSU is a coeducational, public research university with Land, Sea, Sun and Space Grant designations and a Carnegie I research designation. The state of Oregon has an incredible range of natural beauty. A trip west to the Pacific Coast or east to the Cascades is about one hour by car. Portland, about 90 miles to the north, is known for its eco-friendliness, coffeehouses, as well as its parks, bridges and bicycle paths.

OUR COMMITMENT TO DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION

The School of Mechanical, Industrial and Manufacturing Engineering is a community that includes and values the voices of all people. We see diversity as a strength, a competitive advantage and a moral imperative. We are committed to creating and sustaining a diverse environment that is both equitable and inclusive. We value and proactively seek genuine participation from historically under-represented and underserved groups, and recognize them as an essential component of creating a welcoming and rich academic, intellectual and cultural environment for everyone.
